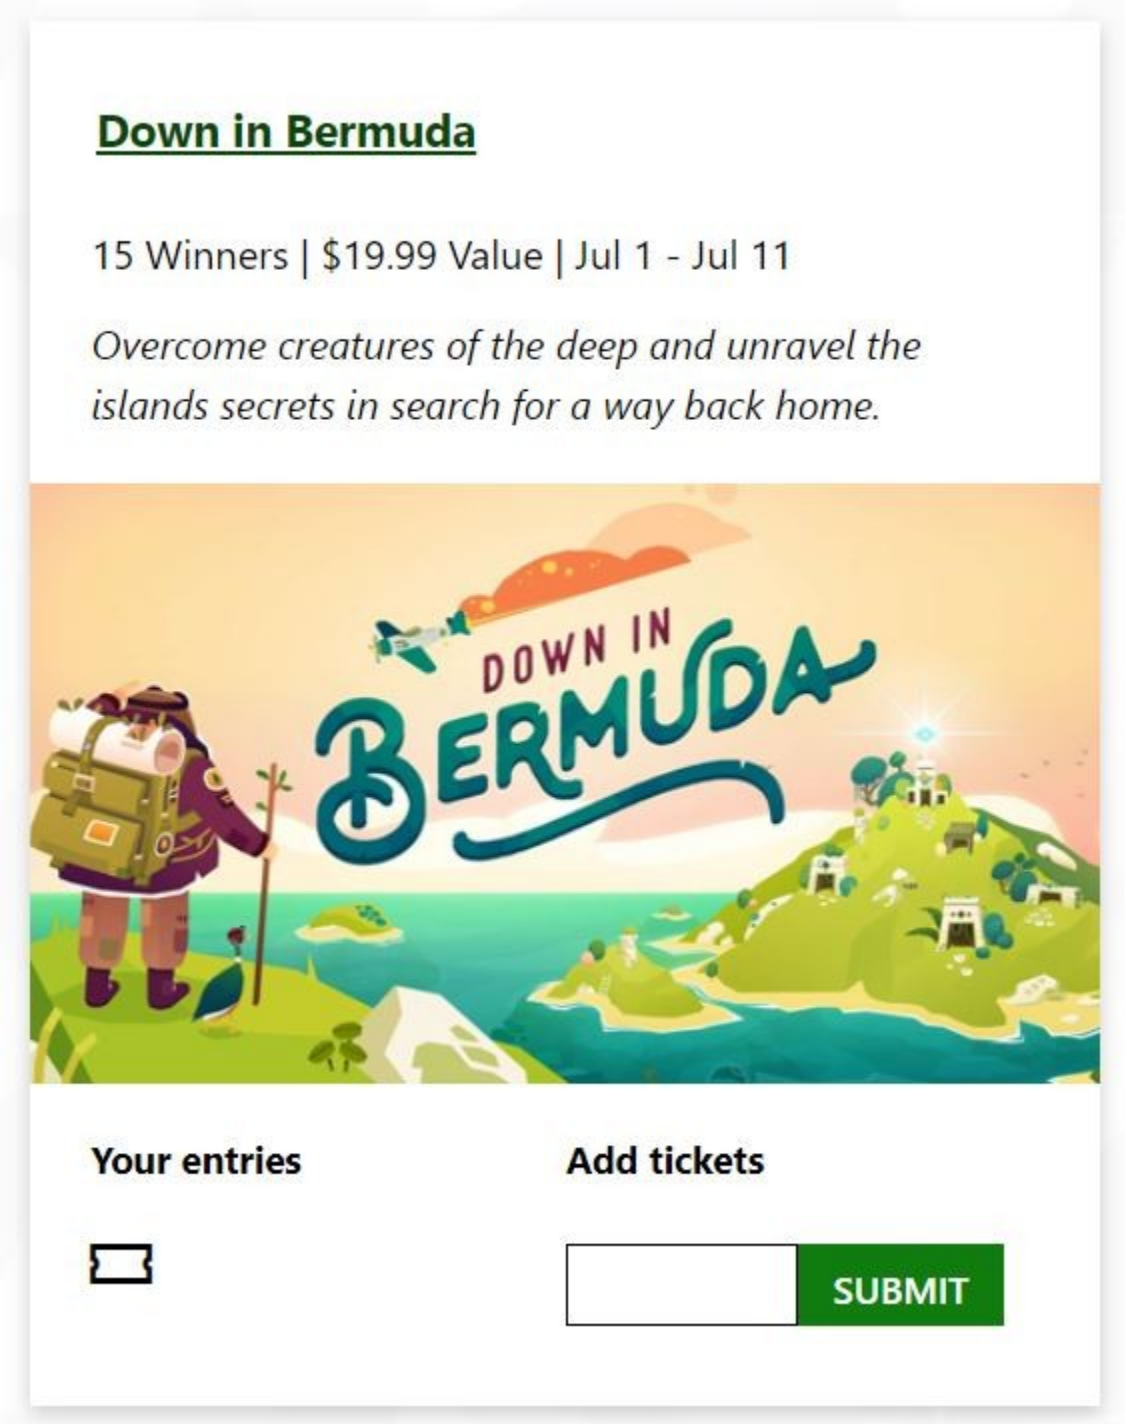
First 30 Days of Season 23

Announcements Otter Jul 2, 2021

Adventure is closer than you think

Are you ready for an epic summer, Ambassadors? Summer has always been a time to get out and explore the world around us—that's why Season 23 is the Season of the Explorer! Some of you may recognize our sleepy feline friend from Season 21 (Season of the Dreamer). Now awake, Space Cat is ready to have some fun! To kick things off, we are challenging Ambassadors with #XAScavengerHunt. Keep an eye on the Missions page for instructions and special missions throughout the month of July.

We also have some updates coming throughout the season. Explore changes to the Sweepstakes page, Missions page, Dashboard and Report a Bug page throughout the season. Be sure to keep an eye on your inboxes too, as Ambassadors will start receiving more personalized emails!



The item titles on the Sweepstakes page are now hyperlinked, so you can go directly to the Microsoft Store to check if the game/item is available in your region and for your device.

Our Missions, Dashboard, and Report a Bug pages will be going through their updates later on in the season. Join our Discord so you can stay up to date with all the new things!

Speaking of keeping up to date, Ambassadors will now receive emails when they unlock a new tier. These emails will inform Ambassadors what rewards they unlocked along with each tier they reach. (To be completely honest, we also want to send these emails because it’s not as much fun to only celebrate at the end of the season.)

Journey down memory lane

Sometimes, it’s fun to take an adventure down memory lane. Yes, June was just last month, BUT a lot of cool stuff happened. Go on Twitter and look at all the great stuff Ambassadors have been doing in 2021 (#XAYearBook). If you like cool things, you’ll also want to watch the VOD (or highlight reel) of oOGingerAleOo’s special The Elder Scrolls Online stream with MissRae.

They were joined by over a hundred viewers and two developers who helped create and build the world of Blackwood!

Don’t miss out on memories, fam. Be sure to follow us on social media—including Twitch and YouTube.
